KETCHIKAN

Our lifestyle, your reward

Whether you're planning your first visit to our unique corner of Alaska or coming back to enjoy more, we offer a hearty welcome to Ketchikan, where Alaska begins.

This Trip Planner provides you with resources to make the most of your time in our region. If you don't find what you're looking for, just call our Visitor Information Center. We'll help you plan the best possible Ketchikan experience. That's what we're here for.

WHERE IN THE WORLD IS KETCHIKAN?

You'll reach our island community by sea or by air. We're about 700 miles northwest of Seattle. The spectacular sea route takes you through the famed Inside Passage waterway of the North Pacific Ocean.

Ketchikan is a popular destination for sportfishers, adventurers, cruise travelers and everyone who wants to break away from everyday life to experience a one-of-a-kind lifestyle. Here in the heart of Tongass National Forest, there's plenty of beautiful country and shore to explore.

Whether you visit us for a day or stay for an extended, independent adventure, our town is yours to discover and yours to love.

PLANNING YOUR STAY BOOKING & PACKING

Book early for flights, ferries and rooms

Make the most of your visit by planning well, particularly if you're visiting during our busy summer season. Here are a couple of helpful tips.

- Book transportation well in advance. Seats on Alaska Airlines and vehicle spaces on Alaska Marine Highway vessels fill fast for peak visitor season, May through September.
- Lock in your lodging early and talk to your host or reservation service about where your lodging is situated in Ketchikan; your host has good advice about options for local transportation.

It's Alaska: pack for casual comfort in varying conditions

We're not sticklers about fashion up here. So when you're in Ketchikan, do as Ketchikan folks do: match your clothes to your activities. And if we have anything up here, it's activities!

- Pack lightweight shirts you can layer under sweaters and jackets. Light wool and polyester fleece are good choices for outer layers.
- Your comfortable pants are welcome anywhere and on warm days a pair of shorts will feel just right. But be prepared for a maritime climate and a rain forest setting; we recommend you bring a water-resistant coat with a hood and sturdy, waterproof shoes.
- Lightweight gloves and rain gear may be needed for hikes and saltwater excursions. Sunglasses and sunscreen are recommended for our long summer days, especially if you'll be on the water.
- If you're prone to motion sickness, see a physician before your trip.

KETCHIKAN STORY Project

Before you visit, learn more about what makes our community a place like no place else. In the award-winning Ketchikan Story Project series of videos, personality features and photographs, residents tell stories of our fishing, aviation and timber industries; share our arts and Native culture; and offer insights into local history. The project won seven regional Emmys and three national Telly awards.

PLANNING YOUR STAY TRANSPORTATION

From the airport to the city by sea

Ketchikan International Airport on Gravina Island is five minutes by ferry from town.

- Ferries depart from the airport on the hour and half-hour; ferries depart Ketchikan to the airport 15 minutes and 45 minutes after the hour. During peak summer travel times, departures are every 15 minutes. The adult fare is $6; one-way fare for a standard car is $7. Free baggage carts are available. Cash and credit cards are accepted.
- Rental cars can be picked up from rental agencies at Ketchikan International Airport or at the agencies' offices in town.

Getting around on the ground in Ketchikan

Taxis meet arriving airport and state ferries. Rates are $3.50 a drop and $3 a mile. The typical one-way fare to downtown from the airport ferry landing is about $12.50; to downtown from the Alaska Marine Highway ferry terminal, about $11.

SEE MORE OF ALASKA ON THE ALASKA MARINE HIGHWAY

Travel like a local - onboard a state ferry.
Visit us online for routes and trip ideas.
FerryAlaska.com/kt 1-800-642-0066

Municipal bus service runs daily in the city; routes also reach south and north of town. Service is hourly. Hours are reduced on Sundays.

- The fare is $1 for adults, $.50 for children and seniors. A day pass is $2.
- A free downtown shuttle runs every 20 minutes, May through September.

Public parking lots have time restrictions or require permits. One-day parking permits are $5 at City Hall on Front Street.

Foot and car traffic is heavy in summer. Observe traffic rules, use crosswalks and follow crossing guards' directions. Don't climb over or through ropes and rails.

Get there by air

Air taxis using floatplanes provide scheduled commuter service; charter service makes even remote locations such as mountain lakes accessible.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Ketchikan provides a wide range of accommodations for relaxation after an exciting day. Select from full-service hotels and motels, vacation rentals, bed and breakfasts, fishing lodges and world-class resorts. Hostels are also available. Rates vary by the season; fall, winter and spring visits offer you opportunities to enjoy Alaskan adventures at greatly reduced rates.

Lodging sites vary from the historic heart of the city to secluded oceanside settings.

- Most bed and breakfast facilities offer private, apartment-style living.
- In-town and remote fishing lodges and resorts are available. Choose from fully guided resort packages or do-it-yourself options with boats and gear.

Comfortable lodging for every budget category is available in the Ketchikan area. Here's a sampling of price ranges for accommodations.

LODGES AND RESORTS

Moderate – $375 to $650 per day.

First Class – $650 and up.

Accommodations, meals, fishing, processing and transportation are typically included.

HOTELS

Moderate – $115 and up per night in summer season; $65 and up in fall, winter and spring.

First Class – $195 and up per night in summer season; $114 and up in fall, winter and spring.

BED & BREAKFASTS AND VACATION RENTALS

$100 and up per night in summer season; $85 and up in fall, winter and spring. Monthly rates are available on request. Minimum nights stays may be required during peak season.

HOSTELS

$20 and up per night. Taxes are additional and vary by location.

Camping and RV facilities

Camping is a favorite pastime in our forested setting. Residents and visitors alike have several facilities to enjoy.

Ward Lake Recreation Area has three campgrounds with 47 sites. Some campsites accommodate vehicles as long as 45 feet; most sites handle 30- to 36-foot vehicles. Reservations are available.

Settlers Cove Campground includes 14 campsites along the ocean shore 18 miles north of the city center. Thirteen sites accommodate RVs; four sites handle vehicles as long as 35 feet. All sites are first-come, first-served.

Clover Pass Resort offers private RV facilities with hookups; spaces for summer months fill quickly. Reservations well in advance are strongly recommended.

Walmart allows free overnight RV parking, limited to one day.

Remote cabin rentals are offered by the U.S. Forest Service and Alaska State Parks in lakefront and saltwater locations. Cabins are furnished with bunks, tables and stoves that burn wood or oil. Transportation by floatplane or boat can be arranged through local charter companies.

If you're bringing your own camper, book space as early as possible on the Alaska Marine Highway; spaces on the ferry car decks fill months in advance.

ONE-STOP TOUR CENTER

A one-stop resource for planning and booking

Ketchikan Visitors Bureau is here to offer you extensive assistance with planning your visit to Southeast Alaska. Then we'll help you make the most of your time while you're in this remarkable Alaskan community.

When you arrive, our visitor information centers offer on-the-ground guidance. Find us in the heart of downtown on Berth 2 and in a seasonal satellite office on Berth 3. Pick up a copy of the Walking Tour Map and a bus schedule. Check out our calendar of events for fun activities and sights that round out your stay in Alaska's First City.

Local businesses present a range of great activities and excursions to make your visit truly unforgettable. Our conveniently located tour center operates May through September in the Berth 2 visitor center. Company representatives help you book dozens of activities, from fishing charters to kayaking, from guided tours to local attractions, and more. All of our operators have state and local licenses and must be insured to operate in Ketchikan. Contact information for Tour Center tenants is on page 13.

Restrooms are provided at both of our visitor centers. Taxi stands and public transit are close by each of the facilities.

CAN'T-MISS ATTRACTIONS

History, scenic beauty and fun inspire diverse attractions. Museums, historic sites and interactive tours are highlights.

Creek Street borders Ketchikan Creek, where salmon runs attracted Alaska Natives for centuries and where residents and visitors still take fish. Brothels lined the creek from 1903 to 1953. Shops, restaurants, museums and galleries now welcome visitors to a one-of-a-kind neighborhood on the National Register of Historic Places.

Southeast Alaska Discovery Center is an outstanding federal interpretive facility spotlighting history and resources of Tongass National Forest, the nation's largest.

Tongass Historical Museum and Dolly's House profile our past. At Great Alaskan Lumberjack Show, athletes show off skills used by those who work in the woods.

Totem Poles bring global fame to Ketchikan, where we boast the world's largest collection. Poles stand in numbers in Saxman Native Village south of town, and in Totem Bight State Park and Potlatch Park out north. Poles also are placed in many public areas throughout the community. Ancient poles are preserved at Totem Heritage Center, another National Register site.

DAYBOOK: CAN'T-MISS ATTRACTIONS

Seize the days! Consider some intriguing itineraries

History highlights

Day 1: Take the Historic Ketchikan Walking Tour. Visit Tongass Historical Museum and Dolly's House museum along the creek. At Totem Heritage Center, understand the cultural background of totemic art forms.

Day 2: With a newfound grounding in Northwest Coast culture, view totem poles at Saxman Native Village, Totem Bight State Historical Park and Potlatch Park. Talk to totem carvers as they work on new poles. See a Native dance group performing.

Day 3: Learn about Ketchikan industries at Southeast Alaska Discovery Center. Find Fishing History signage. Go to Alaska Rainforest Sanctuary and Great Alaskan Lumberjack Show to see timbering mills and skills.

Something fishy

Day 1: Book a guided half- or full-day salmon fishing charter; have your catch processed and shipped home to you.

Day 2: Bering Sea Crab Fishermen's tour celebrates commercial fishing in Alaska.

Day 3: Ride on a skiff, our water equivalent to bicycles. Guided tours and self-guided rentals are available.

Active adventure

Day 1: Paddle and pedal. Kayak and bike tours, and rentals, offer close-up, slow and person-powered options for seeing our unique place.

Day 2: Hike. Trail difficulty varies. Pick up free personal locator beacons and maps from our staff at the Berth 2 Visitor Center.

Day 3: Get behind the wheel of a Jeep, ATV cart or inflatable boat and get out on a guided tour.

Pick up maps and other useful information at our visitor information centers on cruise ship berths 2 and 3. Expanded versions of can't-miss itineraries are posted at www.visit-ketchikan.com.

DAYBOOK: MORE CAN'T-MISS ATTRACTIONS

Plan a day, or several, for excitement that can't miss

Nature calling

Day One: Fly in a floatplane, cruise in a fast boat, or do a combo tour to Misty Fiords National Monument.

Day Two: Peel your eyes and charge the camera for tremendous wildlife viewing. Bears are seen more often in late summer; birds and marine life are here year-round.

Day Three: Picnic at the beach. Look for treasures and intertidal critters at low tide.

Artful endeavors

Day One: Use the Art Lives Here book to locate public art installations.

Day Two: Get an arts overview at the Arts Council and First City Players on Main Street. Visit galleries; Mission Street's a good place to start.

Day Three: Browse local calendars for live music. Have lunch and music at an art café, then hear performers at a restaurant, cabaret or lounge at night.

NATURE & WILDLIFE

The prolific temperate rain forest is an astounding engine for generating life, from tall trees to wild animals

We share our forested islands and the surrounding ocean with an amazing array of wildlife. The temperate rain forest is not only one of the most beautiful places on earth, it's also one of the most biologically productive areas. Use the map in this guide to scope trails that will put you right in the middle of our unique environment. Make a plan, collect the appropriate clothing and gear, and get out there!

- More than 250 species of birds have been identified around the Ketchikan area. The Alaska Hummingbird Festival in April celebrates the springtime return of migratory birds.
- Migrating humpback whales and orcas (a.k.a. killer whales), sea lions, seals and Dall porpoises are often spotted on cruise excursions.
- Sitka black-tailed deer inhabit the beaches and forest. Mountain goats and wolves are sighted at higher elevations.
- Black bears are commonly seen as they fish in streams for returning salmon; they also browse forested lands for berries and other edible plants.

FYI

Mountain goats, grazing in numbers in the high country, are commonly observed by flightseeing passengers. Snowfields melting in granite bowls provide spectacular scenes. For longer, up-close experiences of the sea and forest, outfitters conduct multi-day stays and guided kayak tours.

For more information about nature & wildlife activities, see Member Directory pages 44 and 47.

MISTY FJORDS & TONGASS NATIONAL FOREST

Ketchikan is the gateway to spectacular country

Misty Fjords National Monument's deep canals and inlets were carved by glaciers thousands of years ago. Some call this granite grandeur the Yosemite of the North.

Misty Fjords provides outstanding recreational opportunities and wildlife habitat, accessible by floatplane or boat from Ketchikan.

The near edge of the 2.3 million-acre area is only 40 miles south of Ketchikan. Day cruises and flightseeing trips are offered daily in the summer. Kayak companies and small charter boat operations offer guided overnight trips.

- U.S. Forest Service maintains wilderness cabins in the monument for visitors who want extended visits.
- Pictographs—ancient Native rock art—are etched into cliff walls in the monument. New Eddystone Rock, a picturesque volcanic core, thrusts from an island near the monument entrance.
- Allow four hours for a cruise, two hours for a flightseeing trip to Misty Fjords.

For information about Misty Fjords & Tongass National Forest, see Member Directory page 44.

Ketchikan is in the heart of Tongass National Forest.

At 17 million acres, it is the largest national forest in the U.S. It's a vast place: You can travel the 500 miles from Ketchikan to Yakutat and never leave the national forest.

Around Ketchikan, you're visiting the Tongass—whether you know it or not—when you cruise along its shores, hike local trails, fly to a remote lake or camp and picnic at a recreation area.

This temperate rain forest is integral to the lifestyle of Southeast Alaska and always has been. Managed for multiple uses, the vast forest supports habitat for a rich abundance of plants, animals and birds and provides industrial and recreational opportunities.

From the earliest habitation by Northwest Coast tribes, the forest and sea have provided for every necessity.

NATIVE CULTURE

History centuries in the making

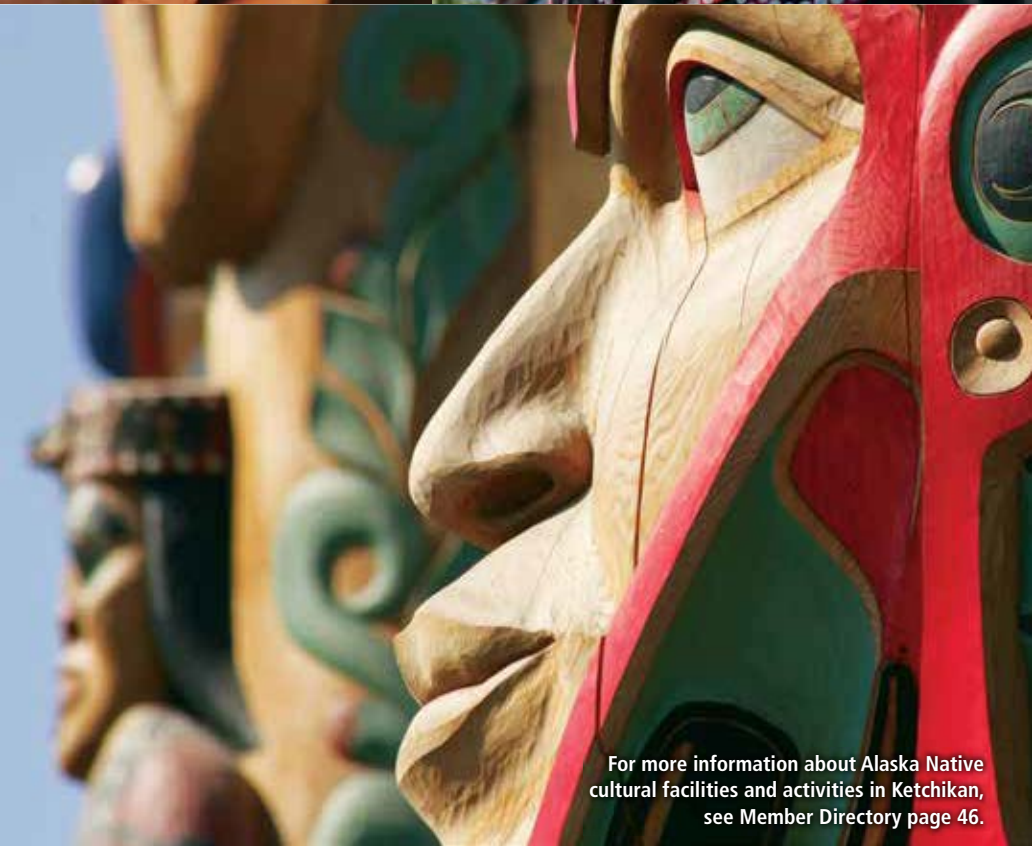

The heritage of Northwest Coast tribes is integral to our lifestyle. About 20 of every 100 residents of Ketchikan can trace their heritage to the Tlingit, Haida and Tsimshian tribes of Alaska. The world's largest collection of totem poles is found here, and you can meet the artists and teachers whose work keeps the cultures vital.

- Totem Bight State Historical Park features a longhouse and an impressive collection of restored totem poles. Interpretive materials line a trail through the park.
- Artisans at Saxman Native Village carving center work on contemporary totem poles and invite you to get close.
- Saxman Native Village and Totem Bight State Historical Park display poles and clan houses. The parks also feature performances of Native dancers.
- Tongach Historical Museum displays ancient tools and implements.
- Potlatch Park presents a replica of a Native village, including totemic carvings. A museum displays classic cars and firearms.

ARTS & CULTURE

Ketchikan has been recognized as one of America's Top 100 Small Arts Communities for the number and vitality of our artists and performers. Public art abounds, from Alaska Native carving to commissioned contemporary pieces. See artwork in our galleries and shops. Immerse yourself in festivals, museums and special events. Check in with our Visitor Centers to discover what's happening on our cultural calendar during your visit.

- Celebrate internationally known Native artists working in traditional forms from carving to weaving. Contemporary artists produce amazing work in media from acrylic to sculpture, from ceramics to watercolor.
- Browse the community's diverse art galleries, many owned and operated by resident artists.
- Art exhibits, festivals and special events occur throughout the year. The artistic highlight of summer is the Blueberry Arts Festival on the first weekend of August, with a dazzling array of artwork and public events. In the winter, residents put on the Jazz and Cabaret Festival and the Wearable Art Show. Our dance school offers seasonal public performances.
- Ketchikan's theater company produces a full season of stage entertainment. Concerts featuring our community band and community chorus also keep performing arts at the forefront.
- We recently celebrated the Year of the Artist and published "Art Lives Here," a printed and online program spotlighting our creative community, galleries and public art. The book and website also introduce you to Ketchikan arts organizations, facilities and events.

SIGHTSEEING TOURS & ACTIVITIES

Options abound for tours in seats, afloat and on foot

Ketchikan offers outstanding sightseeing and tour options for every visitor's interest. Some guided tours highlight points of interest. Others focus on attractions or activities.

Tour operators offer sightseeing by motor coach, van or passenger car around the community or to selected popular attractions. There are tours at sea and afoot.

- Our local tour operators offer fun options, such as forest tours in rugged Hummers, a tour in a vintage '55 Chevy and a tour conducted in Spanish.
- Sea tours feature excursion vessels, high-speed touring boats and amphibians.
- Guided walking tours let you explore sights and history at a truly human pace.

Self-guided options include rentals of bikes and cars for use around town. You might choose to explore Ketchikan by water; check local vendors for kayak and skiff rentals.

Knowledgeable guides increase your enjoyment and share unique perspectives on Ketchikan life. Many companies create customized tours that let you learn about our history, seek out wildlife or experience local culture.

For more, browse our online page: www.visit-ketchikan.com/Things-To-Do.

SIGHTSEEING ADVENTURE TOURS

Go ahead. Get out there.
We have so much ‘out there’ to get.

Ketchikan is a great destination for hands-on adventures. Local operators offer a wide range of activities. Just bring your sense of adventure: guides and excursion leaders will provide all the training and equipment you'll need.

Human-powered sightseeing includes bike treks as well as guided kayak and canoe excursions—even one with Native language instruction. You can pedal a prop-driven, two-person catamaran in sheltered waters.

A converted Bering Sea crab boat takes visitors to see the thrills and skills of high-seas fishing. Another tour visits a remote inlet for sightseeing and crabbing.

Sail through the rain forest's tall conifers with Ketchikan's unique zipline adventures, or take a ropes challenge adventure for another gravity-defying thrill.

Take off in a fast inflatable boat for a guided tour of our islands and near-shore environment.

Venture out to a remote lake by floatplane, or to an island by boat, and hike the rain forest. Or stay close to town and hike one of the many nature trails that are just minutes away.

An amazing array of marine creatures can be seen up close when you take a snorkeling excursion.

Be sure to check with tour operators as you plan for your visit. Some excursions have requirements such as minimum height, weight or age, or a driver's license.

SPORTFISHING

Our saltwater fishing is some of the best in Alaska. Five species of wild Pacific salmon return from the open ocean to their native waters in this area: kings (also called chinooks), cohos (silvers), sockeyes (reds), pinks (humpies) and chums (dogs).

In addition to the salmon runs, halibut and red snapper offer great angling opportunities. Our cold, clean sea is rich with shrimp and crabs. Pristine freshwater lakes and streams are alive with trout, Dolly Varden and bright steelhead.

There are many options for fishing adventures. Full-service lodges and resorts offer unforgettable outdoor adventure, great meals and comfortable lodging. Experienced guides provide half-day and full-day charters in a broad radius.

Do-it-yourself saltwater fishers can rent boats and gear from local lodges. Floatplane pilots transport freshwater anglers to remote lakes, some with cabins. Professional guides offer expert advice for your trip. Some fishing spots are accessible from our road system; others are reached by floatplane or boat.

For more information about sportfishing, see Member Directory pages 48-49

DIY

We have guides and charters to help you make the most of a fishing excursion on fresh water or salt water.

If you're a DIY angler, Ketchikan businesses can fix you up with boats, tackle, apparel and anything else you'll need.

SHOPPING

As a major port of call with a vibrant community of artists and artisans, Ketchikan has shops and galleries with real appeal for visitors who are interested in genuine Alaska-made fare. Our businesses are also well-stocked with distinctive gifts and mementos, from apparel to smoked salmon.

Count on local stores for all you could need in sporting goods, camping supplies, groceries, hardware, marine and automobile supplies, personal items and books.

- Alaska Native art includes carvings and masks, hand-painted drums, weaving, silver work, ivory and jade.
- Galleries feature Alaskan and international artistry, from paintings and prints to sculptures, fine jewelry and collectibles.
- Smoked salmon and seafood as well as locally roasted coffee are available.
- There is no state sales tax, although local tax applies.
- Most shops offer shipping.

For more information about shopping, see Member Directory pages 46, 50-51.

Watch for these marks as you shop...

Want to be assured you're buying an authentic Alaskan treasure? Look for the official "Made in Alaska" symbol, which indicates that the item was made in Alaska by a resident artist, craftsman or manufacturer.

The "Silver Hand" emblem signifies that the article was handcrafted by an Alaska Native.

OUR NEIGHBORING COMMUNITIES

First-time visitors and veterans alike come for the diversity that Ketchikan offers and many stay longer for adventures in both accessible and remote areas. We're the portal to a number of inviting neighbor communities. Read on for highlights of some unique neighbors and information to help you plan an extended stay.

Prince of Wales Island

West of Ketchikan lies the third-largest island in the United States. Prince of Wales Island (often shortened to "P.O.W." in local usage) is home to several thousand residents in communities with populations that range from 50 to 1,500. The island is a prime destination for sportfishing enthusiasts and provides outstanding opportunities for camping, hunting and hiking—linked by hundreds of miles of road, the longest system in Southeast Alaska. Totem poles and other Alaska Native artwork are featured in several towns.

Prince of Wales Chamber of Commerce

www.princeofwalescoc.org • (907) 755-2626

FYI

Scheduled floatplanes and ferries link Ketchikan to Prince of Wales Island, where visitors can see historic, hard-working fishing and timbering towns. Recreational opportunities run the length of America's third-largest island. Visitors and residents run 26 miles of shoreline on Memorial Day weekend in the Prince of Wales Island International Marathon, a scenic, sanctioned race.

IFTA

Southeast Alaska's island communities are linked by three ferry operations. Green vessels of the Inter-Island Ferry Authority link Ketchikan to Hollis on Prince of Wales Island. Rainforest Islands Ferry connects Coffman Cove on P.O.W. to Wrangell and Petersburg, which are, like Ketchikan and Metlakatla, ports of the Alaska Marine Highway.

Visitors are invited to book tours in El Capitan Cave, managed by the U.S. Forest Service—largest of 500 caves on the island.

Hydaburg, Kasaan and Klawock are home to many Alaska Natives of Tlingit and Haida descent. Remarkable totem pole parks stand in Klawock, Hydaburg and Kasaan.

Inter-Island Ferry Authority (IFA) provides daily passage between Ketchikan and Hollis, on the east side of P.O.W. Rainforest Islands Ferry links Coffman Cove, on the northwest side, to Wrangell and Petersburg farther north in the Panhandle.

Local commuter air carriers connect Ketchikan to Prince of Wales Island with scheduled daily service.

Visit www.alaskasinsidepassage.com to learn more about the communities of Southeast Alaska.

Consider extending your visit to get acquainted with communities across our region. Every community has distinctive features well worth sampling.

- Prince Rupert, British Columbia, is our closest Canadian neighbor. Travel time is six hours on Alaska Marine Highway ferries or 45 minutes by air.
- Hyder, Alaska, is on the U.S. side of the international border with Canada, opposite Stewart, B.C. Bear viewing and glaciers are highlights of the area. Access is from B.C. Highway 37. Six hours by ferry to Prince Rupert plus four hours by highway, or 55 minutes by air.
- Metlakatla Indian Community was founded in the 1880s by Tsimshian Natives traveling by canoe from B.C. Congress created the Annette Islands Reserve in 1891; it's the only federally recognized Native reservation in Alaska. One hour by ferry or 15 minutes by air.
- Wrangell is the gateway to the Stikine River and the Anan Creek Bear Observatory. Petroglyph Beach offers a view of ancient Alaska Native artistry in stone. Six hours by ferry or 45 minutes by air.
- Petersburg, Alaska's "Little Norway," was settled by Norwegian fishermen. Traditional Scandinavian tole paintings grace many buildings. The LeConte Glacier is a major visitor attraction. Ten hours by ferry or 55 minutes by air.
