KETCHIKAN

You're never far from some extraordinary sight when you visit Ketchikan. It's just us, going about our unique way of life. You're welcome to take part.

Our lifestyle, your reward

Whether you're planning your first visit to our unique corner of Alaska or coming back to enjoy more, we offer a hearty welcome to Ketchikan, where Alaska begins.

This Trip Planner provides you with resources to make the most of your time in our region. If you don't find what you're looking for, please call our Visitor Information Center. We'll help you plan the best possible Ketchikan experience. That's what we're here for.

WHERE IN THE WORLD IS KETCHIKAN?

You'll reach our island community by sea or by air. We're about 700 miles northwest of Seattle. The sea route takes you through the spectacular Inside Passage waterway of the North Pacific Ocean.

Ketchikan is a popular destination for sportfishers, adventurers, cruise travelers and anyone who wants to break away from everyday life to experience a one-of-a-kind lifestyle. Here in the heart of Tongass National Forest, there's plenty of beautiful country and shore to explore.

Visit us for a day or stay for an extended adventure. Our town is yours to discover and yours to love.

ALASKA

Ketchikan is the single best place in the world to see and study totem poles. Three totem parks display magnificent works carved in cedar. Totem Heritage Center preserves ancient totem poles and offers fascinating interpretive material on Alaska Native culture.

PLANNING YOUR STAY

BOOKING & PACKING

Book early for flights, ferries and rooms

Make the most of your visit by planning thoroughly, particularly if you're visiting during our busy summer season. Here are a couple of helpful tips.

Ships of the Alaska Marine Highway call at Ketchikan from mainland ports in Washington state and British Columbia.

- Book transportation well in advance. Seats on Alaska Airlines and Delta, and vehicle spaces on Alaska Marine Highway vessels, fill fast for the peak visitor season, May through September.
- Lock in your lodging early and talk to your host or reservation service about where your lodging is situated in Ketchikan; your host has good advice about options for local transportation.

It's Alaska. Pack for casual comfort and conditions that vary according to the climate and your activities

We're not sticklers about fashion up here. When you're in Ketchikan, do as Ketchikan folks do: match your clothes to your activities. And if we have anything up here, it's activities!

- Pack lightweight shirts you can layer under sweaters and jackets. Light wool and polyester fleece are good choices for outer layers.
- Your comfortable pants are welcome anywhere. On warm days a pair of shorts will feel just right. But be prepared for a maritime climate and a rain forest setting; we recommend you bring a water-resistant coat with a hood and sturdy, waterproof shoes.
- Lightweight gloves and rain gear may be needed for hikes and saltwater excursions. Sunglasses and sunscreen are recommended for our long summer days, especially if you'll be on the water.
- If you're prone to motion sickness, see a physician before your trip.

KETCHIKAN STORY Project

Before you visit, learn more about what makes our community a place like no place else. In the Emmy Award-winning Ketchikan Story Project series of videos, residents tell stories of our fishing, aviation and timber industries; share our arts and Native culture; and offer insights into local history. Enhance your visit with our free KetchIConS app, available for iOS and Android systems.

Getting to Ketchikan

You have options for traveling to Ketchikan. Here's an overview.

- Alaska Airlines provides daily, year-round service from Seattle; flights from other Alaskan cities also land daily. Delta provides daily service from Seattle mid-May through September.

alaskaair.com

delta.com

- For a sea voyage, book on an Alaska Marine Highway ferry sailing here from Bellingham, Wash., or Prince Rupert, B.C.

ferryalaska.com

- Major cruise lines call in this popular port on the Inside Passage.

- Ketchikan offers public and private moorage as well as a host of services for visiting yachts and pleasure boats.

- Space for private aircraft and services such as fuel are available at Ketchikan's airport.

PLANNING YOUR STAY TRANSPORTATION

Island-hopping is a way of life here. A ferry gets you from the airport on Gravina Island to the city on Revilla Island. The panorama of our waterfront is a bonus.

From the airport to the city by sea

Ketchikan International Airport on Gravina Island is five minutes by ferry from town.

- Ferries depart from the airport on the hour and half-hour; ferries depart Ketchikan to the airport 15 and 45 minutes after the hour. During peak summer travel times, departures are every 15 minutes. The adult fare is $6; one-way fare for a standard car is $7. Cash and credit cards are accepted. Free baggage carts are available.
- Rental cars can be picked up from rental agencies at Ketchikan International Airport or at the agencies' offices in town.

Getting around on the ground in Ketchikan

Taxis meet arriving airport and state ferries. Rates are $3.70 a drop and $3.30 per mile. The typical one-way fare to downtown from the airport ferry landing is about $13; to downtown from the Alaska Marine Highway ferry terminal, about $12.

SEE MORE OF ALASKA ON THE ALASKA MARINE HIGHWAY

Travel like a local - onboard a state ferry.
Visit us online for routes and trip ideas.
FerryAlaska.com/kt 1-800-642-0066

Municipal bus service runs daily in the city; routes also reach south and north of town. Service is hourly. Hours are reduced on Sundays.

- The fare is $1 for adults, $.50 for children and seniors. A day pass is $2.
- A free downtown shuttle runs every 20 minutes, May through September.

Public parking lots have time restrictions or require permits. One-day parking permits are $5 at City Hall on Front Street.

Foot and car traffic is heavy in summer. Observe traffic rules, use crosswalks and follow crossing guards' directions. Don't climb over or through ropes and rails.

Get there by air

Air taxis using floatplanes provide scheduled commuter service. Charter service makes even remote locations such as mountain lakes accessible.

GREAT SMILEAGE

DINING & ENTERTAINMENT

Dinner might be halibut tacos in a historic hotel, or grilled salmon in a timber frame lodge, or a crab feast with a musical melodrama.

Alaskan salmon, halibut, crab, shrimp, oysters and clams are on local menus. Try seafood chowders, fish tacos, salmon burgers and the freshest fish and chips anywhere.

Asian specialties from the Philippines and Japan, including sushi, are served in this historic Pacific Rim port. Mexican and Italian fare is available, as are American-style dining and pizzas.

When you're out, ask for locally roasted coffee and Alaskan beers.

Some lounges have live music. Summer season features Native dancers and the local musical melodrama, served with a crab feast by our community theatre company. Check online calendars for entertainment options.

ONE-STOP TOUR CENTER

A one-stop resource for planning and booking

Ketchikan Visitors Bureau is here to offer you extensive assistance with planning your visit to Southeast Alaska. Then we'll help you make the most of your time while you're in this remarkable Alaskan community.

When you arrive, our Visitor Information Centers offer on-the-ground guidance. Find us in the heart of downtown on Berth 2 and in a seasonal satellite office on Berth 3. Pick up a copy of the Walking Tour Map and a bus schedule. Check out our calendar of events for fun activities and sights that round out your stay in Alaska's First City.

Local businesses present a range of great activities and excursions to make your visit truly unforgettable. Our conveniently located Tour Center operates May through September in the Berth 2 Visitor Information Center. Company representatives help you book dozens of activities, from fishing charters to kayaking, from guided tours to local attractions, and more. All of our operators have state and local licenses and must be insured to operate in Ketchikan. Information to help your contact our Tour Center tenants is on page 13.

Restrooms are provided at both of our Visitor Centers. Taxi stands and public transit are close by each of the facilities.

CAN'T-MISS ATTRACTIONS

Natural history, scenic grandeur and plain old fun inspire diverse attractions. Museums, historic sites and interactive tours highlight the long human presence.

Creek Street borders Ketchikan Creek, where salmon runs attracted Alaska Natives for centuries and salmon still brave the falls in season. Brothels lined the creek from 1903 to 1953.

Shops, restaurants, museums and galleries now welcome visitors to a distinctive neighborhood on the National Register of Historic Places.

Southeast Alaska Discovery Center is an outstanding federal interpretive facility spotlighting the land and the people of Tongass National Forest.

Tongass Historical Museum proudly profiles our community's past (and will remain open during improvements to the Centennial Building in 2017). Dolly's House down the creek preserves remnants of the red-light district. At Great Alaskan Lumberjack Show, athletes show off skills used by those who work in the woods.

Totem Poles bring global fame to Ketchikan, home of the world's largest collection. Poles stand in numbers in Saxman Native Village south of town, and in Totem Bight State Park and Potlatch Park out north. Poles also stand in many public areas throughout the community. Ancient poles are preserved at Totem Heritage Center, a National Register site.

Southeast Alaska Discovery Center is a sophisticated federal facility offering interpretive displays on Native culture and on multiple-use management of Tongass National Forest, the nation's largest. Video presentations round out a unique attraction.

DAYBOOK: CAN'T-MISS ATTRACTIONS

Intriguing itineraries reward those who bring active interests

Grab maps at our Berth 2 and Berth 3 Visitor Information Centers for two Historic Ketchikan Walking Tours. ATVs offer a splashier excursion.

History highlights

Day 1: Stroll the past on the Historic Ketchikan Walking Tour. Visit Tongass Historical Museum and Dolly's House on the creek. At Totem Heritage Center, comprehend the forms of totemic art.

Day 2: With a foundation in Northwest Coast culture, view totem poles at Saxman Native Village, Totem Bight State Historical Park and Potlatch Park. Talk to carvers. See Native dancers perform.

Day 3: Learn about Ketchikan industries at Southeast Alaska Discovery Center. Find Fishing History signage. Go to Alaska Rainforest Sanctuary and Great Alaskan Lumberjack Show to see timbering mills and skills.

Something fishy

Day 1: Book a guided half- or full-day salmon fishing charter; have your catch processed and shipped home.

Day 2: Bering Sea Crab Fishermen's tour celebrates commercial fishing in Alaska.

Day 3: Get out in a small open boat, our basic "ride." Guided tours and rentals are available.

Active adventure

Day 1: Paddle and pedal. Kayak and bike tours, and rentals, offer close-up, slow and person-powered adventure.

Day 2: Hike. Trail difficulty varies. Pick up free personal locator beacons and maps from our staff at the Berth 2 Visitor Center.

Day 3: Take the wheel of a Jeep, ATV cart or inflatable boat on a guided tour.

Pick up maps and other useful information at our visitor information centers on cruise ship berths 2 and 3. Expanded versions of can't-miss itineraries are posted at www.visit-ketchikan.com.

Plan your days around only-in-Ketchikan action

The place we call 'Misty' is not to be missed

Day 1: Fly in a floatplane, cruise in a fast boat, or do a combo tour to world-class Misty Fjords National Monument.

Day 2: Enjoy tremendous wildlife viewing. Bears are seen more often in late summer, birds and marine life year-round.

Day 3: Picnic at the beach. Look for intertidal critters and flotsam treasures and at low tide.

Get your art pumping

Day 1: Check in at the Arts Council and First City Players on Main Street. Visit galleries; Mission Street is essential.

Day 2: Use ketchikanartliveshere.com to pencil a tour of Ketchikan's uniquely diverse public art installations.

The rain forest of the North Pacific generates amazing life, from sky-touching trees to the wildlife that shares our islands

We share our forested lands and the surrounding ocean with an compelling array of wildlife. The temperate rain forest is not only one of the most beautiful places on earth, it's also one of the most biologically productive areas. Use the map in this guide to scope trails that will put you right in the middle of our unique environment. Make a plan, collect appropriate clothing and gear, and get out there!

- More than 250 species of birds have been identified around the Ketchikan area. The Alaska Hummingbird Festival in April celebrates the springtime return of migratory birds.
- Migrating humpback whales and orcas (a.k.a. killer whales), sea lions, seals and Dall porpoises are often spotted on cruise excursions.
- Sitka black-tailed deer inhabit the beaches and forest. Mountain goats and wolves are sighted at higher elevations.

MISTY FJORDS & TONGASS NATIONAL FOREST

Ketchikan is the gateway to spectacular country

Misty Fjords National Monument's deep canals and inlets were carved by glaciers thousands of years ago. Some people call this granite grandeur the Yosemite of the North.

Misty Fjords provides outstanding recreational opportunities and wildlife habitat, accessible by floatplane or boat from Ketchikan.

The near edge of the 2.3 million-acre area is only 40 miles south of Ketchikan.

Day cruises and flightseeing trips are offered daily in summer.

Kayak companies and charter boats offer guided overnight trips.

- U.S. Forest Service maintains wilderness cabins in the monument for visitors who want extended visits.
- Pictographs—ancient Native rock art—are etched into cliff walls in the monument. New Eddystone Rock, a picturesque volcanic core seen on the opposite page, thrusts from an island at the monument entrance.
- Allow four hours for a cruise and two hours for a flightseeing trip.

Well-maintained Forest Service trails near Ketchikan offer easy access to the rain forest. You'll get close to New Eddystone Rock, seen below, in a flightseeing or boat excursion.

Ketchikan is in the heart of Tongass National Forest. At 17 million acres, it is the largest national forest in the U.S. You can travel 500 miles from Ketchikan to Yakutat and never leave the national forest. You're visiting the Tongass—whether you know it or not—when you cruise wild shores, hike local trails, fly to a remote lake, or camp and picnic at a recreation area.

NATIVE CULTURE

Nathan Jackson of Ketchikan is among the very few world-renowned master carvers working in the Northwest Coast tradition. His totemic art is seen at many sites in our community—and in museums and private collections around the globe.

A world-leading center of Native culture awaits you here

The world's largest collection of totem poles is found in Ketchikan and you can meet the artists and teachers whose work keeps the Native culture vital. The heritage of Northwest Coast tribes is integral here: Nearly 20 of every 100 residents of Ketchikan can trace some of their heritage to the Tlingit, Haida and Tsimshian tribes of Alaska.

- Totem Bight State Historical Park features a longhouse and an impressive collection of restored totem poles. Interpretive material lines a trail through the park.
- Saxman Native Village and Totem Bight State Historical Park display poles and clan houses. The parks also feature performances of Native dancers.

- Artisans at Saxman Native Village carving center work on contemporary totem poles and invite you to get close.
- Tongass Historical Museum displays ancient tools and implements.

FYI Priceless artistry in ancient wood is displayed at the Totem Heritage Center, an essential interpretive destination for visitors. The center is also an educational facility where talented artists and artisans teach design, toolmaking, carving and traditional weaving.

- Potlatch Park presents a replica of a Native village, including totemic carvings. A museum displays classic cars and firearms.
- Totem Heritage Center preserves ancient poles retrieved from abandoned villages. The center also instructs in traditional Northwest Coast design and art.

Delores Churchill's weaving represents a lifetime dedicated to a traditional art; her teaching passes the legacy to new generations. Churchill and Nathan Jackson are recipients of the National Heritage Fellowship Award from the National Endowment for the Arts.

For more information about Alaska Native cultural facilities and activities in Ketchikan, see Member Directory page 46.

- Southeast Alaska Discovery Center features a replica of a summer fish camp and depicts traditional Alaska Native life.

Ketchikan boasts innovative work by Alaska Native artists integrating traditional totemic forms and contemporary visions. This pole by Donald Varnell stands beside the Ketchikan Indian Community health center.

ARTS & CULTURE

Ketchikan has been recognized as one of America's Top 100 Small Arts Communities for the number of our artists and performers and the vitality of our arts scene. Public art abounds, from Alaska Native carving to commissioned contemporary pieces. See artwork in our galleries and shops. Immerse yourself in festivals, museums and special events. Check in with our Visitor Centers to discover what's happening on our cultural calendar during your visit.

Ray Troll's fish art travels the world in museum exhibitions—and on T-shirts from his gallery. Our pioneering Wearable Art Show is a dazzling sold-out affair. The hometown musical melodrama Fish Pirate's Daughter each summer features Little Nell and Sweet William Uprightly—and a pre-show crab feast.

- Celebrate internationally known Native artists working in traditional forms from carving to weaving. Contemporary artists produce amazing work in media from acrylic to sculpture, from ceramics to watercolor.
- Browse the community's diverse art galleries, many owned and operated by resident artists.
- Art exhibits, festivals and special events occur throughout the year. The highlight of summer is the Blueberry Arts Festival on the first weekend of August, with a dazzling array of artwork and public events. In the winter, residents put on the Jazz and Cabaret Festival and the Wearable Art Show. Our dance school offers seasonal public performances.

- Ketchikan's theater company produces a full season of stage entertainment. Concerts featuring our community band and community chorus also keep performing arts at the forefront.

Our galleries offer sensational art by Alaskans, from turned-wood treasures to painting and mixed media.

- Our community's artists speak compellingly about this milieu in Ketchikan: The Artists, part of an Emmy-winning video series; view it at ketchikanstories.com.
- In the recent Year of the Artist, we posted a guide to our artists, galleries, public art and events. Browse ketchikanartliveshere.org for a comprehensive look at an outstanding arts scene.

Tour allure: see the First City on wheels, in a boat or on foot

Ketchikan offers outstanding sightseeing and tour options for every visitor's interest. Some guided tours highlight points of interest. Others focus on attractions or activities.

Tour operators offer sightseeing by motor coach, van or passenger car around the city or to selected popular attractions. There are tours at sea and afoot.

- Our local tour operators offer fun options, such as forest tours in rugged Hummers, a tour in a vintage '55 Chevy and a tour conducted in Spanish.
- Sea tours feature excursion vessels and high-speed touring boats.
- Guided walking tours let you explore sights and history at a truly human pace.

Self-guided options include rentals of bikes and cars. You might explore Ketchikan by water; ask us about opportunities to rent kayaks and skiffs.

Knowledgeable guides increase your enjoyment and share unique perspectives on Ketchikan life. Many companies create customized tours that let you learn about our history, seek out wildlife or experience local culture.

SIGHTSEEING ADVENTURE TOURS

Not just tours: adventours!

Ketchikan is a great destination for hands-on adventures. Local operators offer a wide range of activities. Just bring your sense of adventure: guides and excursion leaders will provide all the training and equipment you'll need.

Human-powered sightseeing includes bike treks as well as guided kayak and canoe excursions—even one with Native language instruction. You can pedal a prop-driven, two-seat catamaran.

A converted Bering Sea crab boat takes visitors to see the thrills and skills of high-seas fishing. Another boat tour visits a remote inlet for sightseeing and crabbing. Amphibious vehicles offer the best of both worlds, touring historic land sites before splashing into the ocean for a harbor cruise.

SPORTFISHING

A fat fall coho is in the net near the end of our long fishing season. Below, a visitor proudly holds a springtime king salmon.

Baited breadth: catches here range widely, from shiny salmon to halibut and shellfish

Our saltwater fishing is some of the best in Alaska. Five species of wild Pacific salmon return from the open ocean to their native waters in this area: kings (also called chinooks), cohos (silvers), sockeyes (reds), pinks (humpies) and chums (dogs).

In addition to the salmon runs, halibut and red snapper offer great angling opportunities. Our cold, clean sea is rich with shrimp and crabs. Pristine freshwater lakes and streams are alive with trout, Dolly Varden and bright steelhead. There are many options for fishing adventures. Full-service lodges and resorts offer unforgettable outdoor adventure, great meals and comfortable lodging. Experienced guides provide half-day and full-day charters in a broad radius.

Do-it-yourself saltwater fishers can rent boats and gear from local lodges. Floatplane pilots transport freshwater anglers to remote lakes, some with cabins. Professional guides offer expert advice for your trip. Some fishing spots are accessible from our road system; others are reached by floatplane or boat.

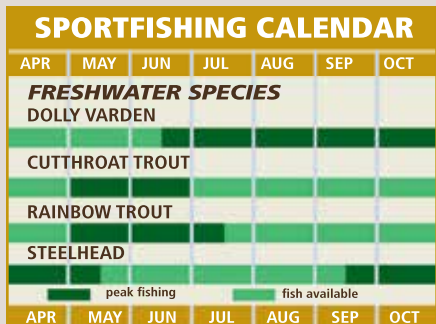

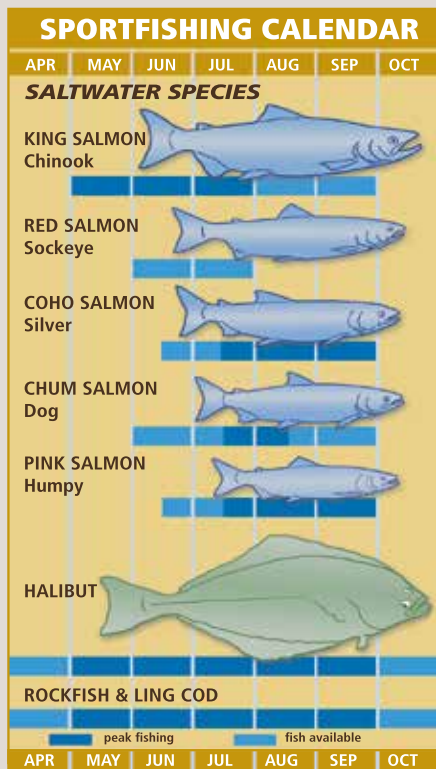

For more information about sportfishing, see Member Directory pages 48-49.

FYI Ketchikan's guides and charters can help you make the most of fishing on fresh water or salt water.

Ketchikan businesses will fix you up with rental boats, fishing tackle, apparel and anything else you need. Waterfront processors can prepare your catch for shipping home smoked or frozen.

SHOPPING

We're famous for shoppportunities

As a major port of call with a vibrant community of artists and artisans, Ketchikan has shops and galleries with real appeal for visitors who are interested in genuine Alaska-made fare. Our businesses are also well-stocked with distinctive gifts and mementos, from apparel to smoked salmon.

Count on local stores for all you could need in sporting goods, camping supplies, groceries, hardware, marine and automobile supplies, personal items and books.

- Alaska Native art includes carvings and masks, hand-painted drums, weaving, silver work, ivory and jade.
- Galleries feature Alaskan and international artistry, from paintings and prints to sculptures, fine jewelry and collectibles.
- Smoked salmon and seafood as well as locally roasted coffee are available.
- There is no state sales tax, although local tax applies.
- Most shops offer shipping.

For more information about shopping, see Member Directory pages 45, 49-51.

Watch for these marks as you shop...

Want to be assured you're buying an authentic Alaskan treasure? Look for the official "Made in Alaska" symbol, which indicates that the item was made in Alaska by a resident artist, craftsman or manufacturer.

The "Silver Hand" emblem signifies that the article was handcrafted by an Alaska Native.

OUR NEIGHBORING COMMUNITIES

Prince of Wales Island and other areas of Southeast Alaska present visitors with magnificent natural scenes, abundant wildlife and up-close experiences with a unique way of life.

First-time visitors and veterans alike come for the diversity that Ketchikan offers and many stay longer for adventures in nearby areas. We're the portal to many inviting neighboring communities. Let us help you plan an exciting, extended stay.

Prince of Wales Island

The third-largest island in the United States (often called "P.O.W." locally) is home to several thousand residents in communities of 50 to 1,500. The island is a prime destination for sportfishers and has outstanding opportunities for camping, hunting and hiking—linked by the longest road network in Southeast Alaska. Several roads are designated as Alaska Scenic Byways.

Inter-Island Ferry Authority (IFA) provides daily passage between Ketchikan and Hollis on the east side of P.O.W. Local air carriers connect to the island with daily service.

Remarkable totem pole parks stand in Klawock, Hydaburg and Kasaan. During the summer, the U.S. Forest Service conducts guided tours of El Capitan Cave, the largest of 500 on the island. Register online or at ranger districts.

Visitors and residents run 26 miles of scenic roads on Memorial Day weekend in the Prince of Wales Island Marathon, a sanctioned race that also features half-marathon and relay competitions. By the Sea Arts and Seafood Fest in Coffman Cove the second weekend in August is a highlight of summer for residents and visitors.

- Hyder is on the Alaska side of the international border near Stewart B.C. Bear viewing and glaciers are highlights of the area. Access is from B.C. Highway 37. Six hours by ferry to Prince Rupert plus four hours by highway, or 55 minutes by air.

- Metlakatla Indian Community was founded in the 1880s by Tsimshian Natives from B.C. Congress created the Annette Islands Reserve in 1891; it's the only federally recognized Native reservation in Alaska. One hour by ferry or 15 minutes by air.
- Wrangell is the gateway to the Stikine River and Anan Creek Bear Observatory. Petroglyph Beach offers a view of ancient Alaska Native artistry in stone. Six hours by ferry or 45 minutes by air.
- Petersburg, Alaska's "Little Norway," was settled by Norwegian fishermen. Scandinavian tole paintings grace many buildings. LeConte Glacier is a major attraction. Ten hours by ferry or 55 minutes by air.
